

For Immediate Release

Greenwood Village Mayor Ronald Rakowsky

While one's personal health is typically a private matter, because Greenwood Village Mayor Ronald Rakowsky has been using a walker or a cane to get around lately, his health has come into question. In response to many inquiries, Mayor Rakowsky wishes everyone to know that he has been undergoing successful treatment for prostate cancer since late last year and expects a full recovery. His recent use of a cane or walker is due to an accidental fall unrelated to his cancer treatment. He has continued his duties as Mayor and plans to do so until his term concludes in November.
